SUBSCRIPTION $2.00 PER YEAR

AGRICULTURAL ASSOC. WILL HOLD MEETING FRIDAY EVENING

R. P. Umbris president, of the Gleichen District Agricultural Association is calling a meeting of the organization next Friday night in the Community Hall at 8 o'clock. It is the first meeting of the year and a very important one, the organization has held for sometime and he urges that all members be on hand to take part in the deliberations.

THE OTTAWA NEWS LETTER

Canada held the world spotlight during the week just past because of two outstanding international scenes enacted at Quebec and at Montreal. Interest of the general public is at the top of the list in the performance of Prime Minister Churchill, President Roosevelt and Premier King at Quebec and later in the Montreal meeting of the United Nations. Canada is the only nation, where 45 nations were represented.

Two ways that events illustrate the increasingly large role taken by Canada in world affairs is the fact that Premier King at Quebec was welcomed by the Canadian people with a ovation that on the fifth anniversary of this dominion entering the war, two such gatherings would be held almost simultaneously on Canadian soil. But aside from the fact that Canadian forces were shown in these talks of supreme importance to all mankind the place Canada was allotted in the proceedings was a tribute to the progress in international influence the Dominions have made.

At Quebec it was officially announced that Premier King sat in with Churchill and Roosevelt for the making of decision which will govern the future existence of Canada and the world, sometime after the war.

The Canadian Prime Minister was much more than official host to the two great democratic leaders from outside that country.

The Dominion was equally interested in a quiet victory over Japan in an intelligent and amicable world judgment after the war and in the future of Anglo-American relations.

These were three of the major topics in the forum of the Quebec talks. That discussion also must take into account the chief suppliers of food, agricultural machinery and other products for the re-establishment of liberated or conquered nations, especially those that have been years of Canada's place in the unprecedented program of UNRRA activities has been there prominently been, and will be, a large one.

International matters often have a remote something to do with the daily routine of life. But to Canadians from the Atlantic to the Pacific world organization during and after the war means a great deal in every day life.

OF THE CALL
TWENTY YEARS AGO

P. Collins came down from Calgary to spend a week with his old Gleichen friends. He states Jimmy Dillon has gone back to Irene.

The men of the district showed a real community spirit last week by turning out and cutting R. D. Oliver's crop for him. His wife had been ill in a Calgary hospital for some time and when she returned home there was no Oliver to take care of the farm. His neighbors seeing the situation proved their friendship by going over with their binders, teams and men and in very short order all the grain was in store ready for threshing. This is the spirit that makes life worth while.

J. O'Leary who was hurt at the construction camp was brought into town and it was discovered he had several fractured ribs.

The crop in the Craggertan district is said to be the best in the province.

Mrs. Lemmon, who has charge of the Craggertan school, is greatly in favor of a new well for the school. Any against must be from a "dry country."

The game bird shooting season opened last Friday and everyone who could get away to hunt went. Some bags were record破记录, some sportmen returned in the evening. A lot of the hunters had extraordinary luck in getting their quota of geese.

Coffee and tea drinkers and retailers heaved a great sigh of relief Sunday evening when it was announced that tea and coffee were off the ration list. With the increased supply of the above mentioned beverages it shows how much the shipping conditions have improved.

JOE CITIZEN SAYS

"Our men would really fill a book if I wanted to print it. I chance to look there's something showing wear and often, too, beyond repair.

Take pain now! Both our wives for our need for pain is past all doubt. And I'm just itching to commence the building of a brand new fence. My wife too has the old complaint.

MEN OVERSEAS

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Taylor of Calgary spent a few days last week visiting the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. Taylor.

Miss Rosie Woods of Calgary spent the weekend in town visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. E. Woods.

The Canadian Red Cross Society, Calgary mobile blood donor clinic, and the Gleichen branch wish to express their thanks to all who helped in making the blood donor clinic, held here at the Blackfoot Hospital, last week, a most successful one. 60 bloods were taken. There were 13 rejections made. Mrs. Thomas F. McLean of the clinic wishes to thank everyone for their kind cooperation and hard work. It might be added that there has been a magnificent response in blood donations at the recent blood drive at the Thompson Community Center.

In the year 1943 there were 529,635 donations, compared to 55,325 in 1940. But in the first six months of this year 632,922 donations were given more than the whole of last year.

Canada Gazette carries a proclamation setting Monday October 9, 1944 as "Thanksgiving Day" in place of general thanksgiving to Almighty God for the blessings with which the people of Our Dominion of Canada have been favored during this year; and we do hereby invite all our people of Canada to observe the day of general thanksgiving."

Nearly one million dollars was collected by the provincial government for the present fiscal year, ended June 30, according to information received by the Alberta Motor Association. This total was $142,010 more than the amount collected from this source in the similar period of the previous year.

The increased yield from the gasoline car registration with the fast passenger car registration showed an increase of 31,000,000,000 miles. The Alberta demands for lower motor license and the allocating of all motor revenue to highway construction brought the highway system bringing it to a standard that will meet the requirements of a heavy increase in holiday motor traffic.

We found cheese everywhere in Britain. And plenty of it. It was available at almost every meal in hotels and some of it was good and some was not to be taken.

Personally I saw more cheese in a week in Britain than I had seen in Canada in two months. As I like cheese, I found it a pleasant substitute for the inedible things that were served as sweet as desert. Cheese is rationed in Britain, they tell me, but the ration is generously interpreted by the grocer.

Bacon for breakfast was a rumor which could be depended upon to get everyone out of bed in a hurry! It was bacon and bacon, but it was bacon and a change.

Fake loose beans become less common from East to West. Of course specimens from the West were fake loose; of 295 Saskatchewan specimens, 32% were fake loose, 67% were real, 11% (13%) out of a total of 150 proved to be fake loose smut. This can be explained, at least in part by the fact that the smut treatment increases from East to West. False loose smut can be treated with a 10% lime treatment; but ordinary loose smut cannot. 80% of all Alberta specimens, 70% of Saskatchewan and only 47% of Manitoba specimens were derived from treated seed. In other words, it was as though the smut had been kept from getting at the seed.

Breakfast was really one of the tough meals. Porridge was available but there was no sugar and the milk was always very strong. There was no lack of sugar for tea or coffee, nor for my beverage. I found a little relief for my porridge by breaking my bowl of sugar into small pieces and adding it into the porridge. But it did not go very far! Then you had a choice of mushrooms, or an ersatz sausage—which tasted like sawdust—dried eggs, or bacon. And as I am not interested in sugar for my beverage, I found a little relief for my porridge by breaking my bowl of sugar into small pieces and adding it into the porridge. But it did not go very far!

SHORT STORY—

Birds Of Prey

By KATHRYN M. KEELEY

Young Mrs. Carroll jumped the green cooking apples she had just brought from the corner grocery into the sink and splashed water on them, preparing to making a pie. It was nearly time to school, but Mrs. Murphy, her neighbor, had quizzed through the barren hawthorn bushes for her morning chat. Mrs. Murphy considered herself an oracle on love and marriage, and when she saw that she had taken Ellen Carroll under her protective wing from the first, she was a bride. Not that Ellen minded, for Mrs. Murphy was a good cook, and she dropped in a friendly, helpful hint. In two years Jim Carroll had waxed bread and genial from such hints.

Mrs. Murphy slammed the kitchen door, and Ellen, who had been seated at the table with a book from the library, said, "Did you remember to bring the suit?" she panted, her voice still holding its County Cork brogue after all these years.

Ellen bent to pull off her friend's snowy rubbers. "Shure," she mimicked, "I forgot all about it. An' what you're we wantin' suit for?"

"Mrs. Murphy bowed at the reddish brown head. "To feed the birds, to be sure."

Ellen sobered but said lightly, "I thought maybe you meant it for us. I think you'd heard the machine shop was on strike. It'll take a long while to get it settled, Jim," she said.

Mrs. Murphy clucked sympathetically. "I'm not too bad. Not much, dear, dear."

"A little. But not enough for a long stretch."

Ellen sat down into a rocking chair, Mrs. Murphy watching with mute approval. Not until the short evening was blended into little flakes did she say earnestly, "You could have more, Ellen. You weren't feeding the birds when you were."

Ellen's eyes grew round with astonishment: "But they're hungry. I never give them money. It's like you and your birds. I just give them crums."

"Birds?" Mrs. Murphy snorted. "Birds of prey, they are. Some day I'll come here to find your head bashed in from one of those birds of prey."

"I've seen the papers every day," she said. "Ellen, you won't let anyone in. I just put hot soup and sandwiches on the table. And then slowly, 'It sort of destroys your faith in human nature if you cannot see what little you have."

"Well, I am warning you," Mrs. Murphy rose abruptly. "I must be goin'! Big John will be home to lunch. Don't forget to sprinkle some milk on the top crust to make it brown."

Afterward, Ellen paled the apoplex. How long would the strike last? Just when they were getting out of bed, Ellen heard a man like this. Do you know he took a wife and baby in the flood, poor soul?"

"Yes, I know," Ellen replied in a quivering choked voice.

Then, if a stroke were called, Ellen wiped her factory coat on her blue checked pin-striped blouse. The bell was a shrill signal of urgency. It wasn't Jim. Through the shimmering rayon curtains, Ellen had a good view and had visited the plant dressed, her husband's cap pushed far back on his head, the little man kept his finger on the push button. A trap! A bum demanding to be let in! All the nerve!

"Let him in, Ellen," Ellen thought, remembering Mrs. Murphy's words with quick apprehension. If he'd only go away! But he didn't. The bell clattered intermittently, while Ellen peered fearfully through the curtains.

At last he sat on the icy steps, hugging himself against the blasts of wind that rattled the door. The bell was a sharp stab of pity, but it did not ring in her mother's bright room.

With a shiver, Ellen realized there was something familiar about him. That was Jim's old overcoat he was wearing.

Ellen recalled the fellow who had removed the coat to move vast quantities of material. One area three-quarters of a mile square is almost a solid mass of crumpled cars and locomotives, twisted metal and twisted wire.

He was the head of Paris around the Eiffel Tower was never touched. Few if any of the historic buildings suffered any damage.

The Renault factory is a mass of wrecked and burned out cars and twisted metal.

A few hours ago the bombing never caused the plant to shut down completely, but obviously slowed production greatly.

Thousands of wrecked railway cars are scattered over the Vincennes-St. Georges road through which the Germans had to move vast quantities of material. One area three-quarters of a mile square is almost a solid mass of crumpled cars and locomotives, twisted metal and twisted wire.

The beautifully bound and illustrated book contains the names of the 2,000 Canadian soldiers who fell in the First Great War.

For more than two years Miss Melvin, head of the department of design at the Vancouver Art School, has devoted her leisure time to writing and illuminating the book.

The book, which contains 14 by 18 inch front covers, the cross is modelled in relief with lettering and an intricate badge stamped in gold on the red leather.

Miss Melvin, who designed and lettered the book, was the designer of the handsome illuminated address presented by the city of Vancouver to King George and Queen Mary when they visited Vancouver in 1939.

The Book of Remembrance will be placed in a niche in St. Paul's Cathedral specially reserved for this Dominion. It will be the gift of the cathedral of the cathedral of the cathedral to exhibit the volume to relatives of those whose names appear in it.

Comments on Work Of Canadian Engineers Killed In Last War

Grace Melvin, well-known Vancouver artist, has completed a Book of Remembrance for the Military Engineers who fell in the First World War.

It will shortly be sent to Ottawa and eventually will find its place in St. Paul's Cathedral, London.

Has Proved Success

Combining Immunization Against Whooping Cough And Diphteria Is Advised

Studies show that infants can be immunized successfully against diphtheria and whooping cough at the same time.

The report, made by the Canadian League of Canada, reported, quoting studies made by three Illinois investigators in The Journal of the American Medical Association:

"Diphtheria and whooping cough are most prevalent and serious in the first years of life, it seemed logical that immunization against the two diseases should be attempted at the same time."

The following figures are quoted:

"Over 600,000 a hot lunch with Big John. You can't get down a man like this. Do you know he took a wife and baby in the flood, poor soul?"

"Yes, I know," Ellen replied in a quivering choked voice.

RELIED ON CLOCK

The old saw about your stomach telling you when meal time rolls around doesn't apply to a Buckley Field private. The soldier rushed to the front door, his face pale with fear. A sergeant that he had been looking at a clock in the War Information room, which gave Eastern War Time instead of Mountain War Time.

Damage Was Slight

Paris Suffered Much Less Than London From Air Bombing

More fortunate than London, the city of Paris was spared the fate of heavy damage from the air.

Both Canadian and United States bombers had gone over and around 100,000 times but had their bows for military targets.

Bomb damage was confined almost entirely to the minor industrial districts at minimum cost to civilians. The big railroad yards, airfields and the vast Renault Motor Works and its subsidiary plants were the scenes of greatest destruction.

Two thousand tons of the destruction caused by the allied bombers—an indication of how large sections of Germany must now look.

Are the Renault works on the main highway between Paris and the southwestern edge of Paris and the freight yards outside Vincennes.

CONTENTS OF NAVY LEAGUE TREASURE CHEST ARE DISPLAYED

The contents of the Navy League's Treasure Chest are shown above as they were taken from the chest recently in Hudson's Bay Company auditorium in Calgary. In the foreground is seen the chest containing $10,000, which will be given to the form a Victory Bond as part of the first prize. Also in the chest were 1000 certificates for the $1000 bond, 1000 $1000 certificates, 14 pairs of Nylon stockings, a chest of community plate flatware, and many other valuable items. It is announced that the campaign will close before the opening of the Victory Loan next month. Membership certificates may be obtained in town.

The honey season presents a variety of unexpected problems to Canada's rural population. The Canadian Bureau in Ottawa has had many inquiries, for instance: "Do I need to collect preserves coupons at the rate of one for every two pounds
